GRFAT;

How government officials swindled Nabbanja cash; Ugandans are still transfixed by an uncomfortable truth: government officials trusted to superintend the payout of Shs 100,000 to each poor Ugandan, ill-prepared for the Covid-19 pandemic's financial pain, turned out to be swindlers of the relief funds. Story

HEALTH;

Health ministry cautions Ugandans on mixing Covid-19 vaccines; the Ministry of Health has cautioned Ugandans on mixing COVID-19 vaccines to get fully vaccinated. The call comes following the arrival of 647,080 doses of Moderna COVID-19 vaccines at a time when many Ugandans who received the first jab are waiting to receive their second jab. Preliminary records from the health ministry show that over 150,000 people are due for their second dose. Story

BUSINESS;

Minister Kasaija 'sad' as Africell quits Uganda; stiff competition and high indebtedness have forced Uganda's third-largest telecom service company by subscriber base, Africell, to quit the country. The company says its services will stop on October 7, this year, according to a letter circulated to its employees, who will continue to be in employment until November 30. Story

SPORTS;

Cranes road to Qatar narrows; the pair's second successive match ended in another draw, this at St Mary's Stadium, Kitende last evening for the Eagles to maintain table leadership. Story

And finally: Collapsed building had no approved plan; the owner of the building on Kisenyi Road, which collapsed on Sunday afternoon, killing at least six people and injuring three others, did not have any approved plans, KCCA has said. Story
