POLITICAL.

Beyond COVID-19, governments must adopt human rights approach to manage health crises; as Ugandans wait for President Yoweri Museveni to fully reopen the country next month, experts are saying, future public health crises should be managed using a human rights approach. Story

ENERGY NEWS;

International Atomic Energy Agency endorses Uganda's nuclear power plans; IAEA has endorsed Uganda's nuclear energy power plant development following a successful review of the country's nuclear infrastructure. Story

NATIONAL;

Uganda gives two-month amnesty for citizens to surrender illegal guns; as Uganda intensifies its fight against armed violence in the country, the Ministry of Internal Affairs has announced a two-month amnesty for people in possession of illegal firearms and small weapons. Story

EDUCATION;

Vaccination remains key to school reopening; although President Museveni stated last month that the economy will reopen with or without vaccination come Jan 2022, the Education ministry insists that the vaccination response will determine the reopening to avoid closure when schools reopen. Story

HEALTH;

Doctors blame Parliament, Ministries for continued strike; Doctors under the UMA have asked parliament to address the deploring state of the health sector in the country. They say Parliament and government ministries are to blame for the continued strike which has left many Ugandans stranded without medical care. Story

GRAFT;

MP Rukaari accused of swindling Shs 10b in another dubious land deal; a family in Isingiro district, western Uganda has petitioned parliament after allegedly losing over Shs 10 billion to Mbarara City North MP Robert Mwesigwa Rukaari. Story

BUSINESS;

Uganda, Tanzania currencies ranked top as Kenya shilling, Rwanda franc lose value; Uganda and Tanzania currencies are the best performing media of exchange in East Africa against the dollar, whereas Kenyan and Rwandan currencies continue to lose value against the greenback. Story

SPORTS;

Man-Utd edge past Crystal Palace to give Rangnick winning start; a superb goal by Fred gave Ralf Rangnick a winning start as Manchester United's intern manager as they beat Crystal Palace 1-0. United enjoyed most of the first-half possession and their first sight at goal came after five minutes when Alex Telles fired wide from the edge of the area. Story

And finally; EU Covid travel bans against Africa are unfair; European Union countries' travel bans on African countries over the Omicron variant is discriminatory and will negatively affect the African aviation sector. Story
